

Training/Research Fellowship for young medical researchers

“The Nuovo-Soldati Foundation for research”

The Nuovo-Soldati Foundation for oncology research has the pleasure to announce a one year Training/Research Fellowship for young medical researchers. This Fellowship, which can be renewed for one additional year, is available at the beginning of the year following the application.

The application should consist of :

- An application letter.
- A recent CV with a list of publications, abstracts etc.
- A training or research project written in French or English of up to 5 to 8 pages (including references) and the 3 to 5 most relevant publications. This project must be relevant to the interests of the applicant's current research group and should be possible within the timeframe specified. These elements must be explicitly detailed in the application.
- The agreement of both the applicants current institution and of the proposed training institution as well as the name of the person that will be directly responsible for the trainee.
- A detailed provisional budget and research/training time line showing that the project is feasible in the time available.
- For more complete details of the requirements see the Foundation's website <http://nuovo-soldati.ch>, candidates.

The maximum amount available is 40,000 euros.

The deadline for applications is the 1st December 2021 and the successful candidates will be informed in the spring of 2022

Interviews will be conducted in French at the beginning of January 2022.

One example of completed applications should be addressed by e-mail

Candidates applications must be sent by mail. All of the relevant documents should be placed in one single file and sent to the secretary of the Foundation's scientific consultative committee.

An application for an additional year's support should contain the same documents as well as a detailed report and a letter of support from the Fellows home Institution. It should be sent for the same deadline

After the first six months of the Fellowship a brief report will be required specifying the training received, the difficulties encountered and any results produced. This should be sent to the Foundation's secretary.

Adresse for Applications

Comité Consultatif de la Fondation Nuovo-Soldati pour la Recherche
c/o Professeure Laura Rubbia-Brandt
Centre Médical Universitaire
Service de pathologie clinique
1, rue Michel Servet
CH-1211 Genève 14
Tél. : +41 (0)22 37 24 969

e-mail : Laura.Rubbia-Brandt@hcuge.ch

e-mail : Catherine.Tairraz@hcuge.ch

Website : <http://nuovo-soldati.ch>