

Lundi 23 mars 2020

12h15 - 13h30 | Hôpitaux Universitaires de Genève
salle 3-797, 3ème étage (Bât. C, biblio ORL)

«Potential Solutions to the Organ Shortage»

Despite increasing numbers of donors, there is still a shortage of organs available for transplantation into patients. This talk presents several potential solutions to this problem, including stopping families overruling donation, switching to a presumed consent system, growing human organs in pigs, organ donation after assisted dying, and others. Each of these solutions raises interesting ethical issues, which will also be explored during the talk.

Dr David Shaw

Senior Researcher, Institute for Biomedical Ethics, University of Basel

